

A TEC, a member of the Loesche Group, is one of the leading specialists in the field of pyroprocess optimization in the cement industry. Our innovative technologies help our customers to minimize production costs and reduce emissions. With headquarters in Austria and subsidiaries as well as representations in other countries, we have a global presence. To strengthen our team, we are looking for a:

Cement Plant Operator (m/f)

We seek an ambitious technician with experience as a Plant Operator in the cement industry for working in Portuguese speaking countries.

Team workability, readiness to learn and develop as well as a expertise in our industry and a profound knowledge in English and Portuguese is required. A willingness to travel and to live abroad is essential.

Your responsibilities:

- Efficient staff planning in the production shifts and staff instructions
- Contribute in production planning
- Monitoring and operation of different cement production plants via control systems, but also on site
- Troubleshooting of production facilities and initiate troubleshooting of production facilities
- Carrying out product inventories
- Fulfilling the quality specifications
- Observe to complicate with safety regulations

Your profile:

- Technical education
- Experience at least 3 years in cement plant operation
- Know-how of cement clinker production and optimization
- Willing to work abroad in an international team
- Willing to work in shift mode
- Language skills: English (mandatory), Portuguese (highly recommended)

Are you interested in being a part of our team and supporting our position in the worldwide cement pyroprocess industry? We offer a motivated working group, the possibility of international travel, flexible working hours and development chances.

If you are interested in this position please send your application including your salary expectations via e-mail to e.goeres@atec-ltd.com

We are looking forward to your informative application.

www.atec-ltd.com